

St Edmund's Primary School Parent Forum

Welcome to Parent Forum

Our Parent Forum is a group of parent representatives who meet once a half term to discuss school-related issues.

Regular, open communication and consultation with parents is really important to the school. The Parent Forum provides a valuable way to listen to your ideas and seek your views, helping to make sure the needs of children and their families are met.

Meetings are informal and a genuine opportunity for open discussion.

Examples of issues that may be discussed include:

- Parental engagement
- Parentmail and communication
- Parents evenings and events
- School development planning
- Views on school policies when they are updated

Parent Forum Representatives

Parent representatives act as a point of contact for the class. Feedback may be included in school newsletters and notes of each meeting will be published on the school website.

Parents may ask you as a parent representative to raise an issue or make a suggestion on their behalf at Parent Forum.

Please note that all issues, whether you raise them yourself or on behalf of other parents, should be general issues, not related to a specific child or incident.

If you have specific concerns about your child your first point of contact should always be your class teacher.

We hope you enjoy being part of the Parent Forum. Thank you again for volunteering.
